THE FOLLY OF CHASING MY OLD FRIEND DEATH

I have been acquainted with Death for an extensive period, dating back to our time as bunkmates during the initial phase of the Great Global Industrial Wars, a conflict often inaccurately referred to as "Great" by those who did not experience it firsthand.

Throughout the years, we have occasionally encountered one another in the more obscure corners of contemporary society, each meeting marked by a mutual acknowledgment—a nod and a wink—that our interactions were not directly related to our own affairs.

My candid approach to discussing my extensive history with Death may seem peculiar to some, and it is likely to exacerbate the mounting frustration among the substantial factions of Ahriman's Lost Children of the Woke.
This group has been likened to a contemporary iteration of the Hitler Youth from the 1930s and 1940s, reflecting a troubling alignment with authoritarian ideologies.
Their increasingly frantic demands, often voiced from the confines of their basements, call for my immediate detention and silencing, as they seek to have me confined to a FEMA

Re-Training Center’s "Coalition of the Willing" Labor Camp.
This reaction stems from my role as a founding member of the once-banned Palmdale Chapter of the Jesuits of Truth, an organization dedicated to revealing uncomfortable realities that challenge the interests of corrupt officials within Ahriman's World Economic Forum administration.
The accusations against me, which include a litany of supposed hate and thought crimes, are rooted in the Jesuits of Truth's commitment to exposing the harsh truths that threaten the status quo upheld by a cadre of faceless bureaucrats and socialist accountants from the previous Ahriman Administration.

Despite the concerted attempts by the officials associated with Ahriman's World Economic Forum to portray me as a representative of a perilous, anti-social faction engaged in clandestine terrorist activities, I remain undeterred.
Their efforts to depict me as a disruptive force intent on unsettling the foundations of polite society through the revelation of uncomfortable truths have not succeeded in shaping my identity or undermining my resolve.
The attempts to suppress my voice by deliberately lowering my social credit score to an unprecedentedly negative level have not succeeded in subduing me; rather, they have inadvertently galvanized my fellow members of the Palmdale Chapter.

This adversity has inspired them to reaffirm their commitment to being steadfast purveyors of truth.
I would like to further complicate this already tumultuous public relations situation by expressing my view that Mister Death, despite what state media, CNNister, may assert regarding the appropriateness of this designation, is indeed a commendable individual.

He is merely fulfilling his obligations as a contractor of the Hell/Heaven Consortium, tasked with the important role of identifying, recruiting suitable candidates for service in the afterlife.

While it is understandable that you may harbor skepticism or choose to scrutinize his motivations, I would argue that your perspective has likely been influenced by the sensationalist tactics employed by mainstream media, which aim to discredit this individual through blatant falsehoods.

These efforts serve to tarnish his previously established reputation with fabricated misquotes, often disseminated by anonymous sources who have never interacted with him and may, in fact, be operatives of elite transhumanist organizations. These groups are potentially funded by entities such as Skynet Labs or the marketing division of Mister Billy D'Gated' Acme Heavy Industries, both of which claim to be at the forefront of advancing technologies that aspire to realize the transhumanist vision.

According to promotional narratives from Skynet, the ultra-wealthy will achieve immortality through the development of their revolutionary electro-skeleton bodies and the integration of macro-nanobot brain merging technologies from ACME Heavy Industries, a claim that raises significant ethical and societal questions regarding the implications of such advancements.

Mister Death engages in a profession that commands respect and offers substantial financial rewards, a fact that I hesitate to openly acknowledge.
It is a line of work that, I suspect, neither you nor I would possess the moral fortitude to undertake, despite the undeniable reality of its perpetual job security—there is certainly no lack of individuals in need of his services on this planet.

Additionally, I have heard that this profession comes with an excellent dental insurance plan, further enhancing its appeal.
Recently, I encountered him while strolling along a nearly deserted beach at sunset.
As I approached, I observed him gazing vacantly at the Gulf of America, and I could perceive an unusual tension in his demeanor that had not been present in our previous interactions.

Reflecting on the situation, I decided to inquire if he would be willing to discuss the issues that seemed to be weighing on his mind.

We settled down by the seawall, engaging in conversation as the sun cast a warm reddish hue over the horizon.

It was evident that he was weary, grappling with frustration over the barrage of negative comments on social media that threatened to undermine his credibility.

I made an earnest attempt to convince him of the insignificance of such platforms, but perhaps I was too absorbed in my own.

experiences, inadvertently presenting myself as the insensitive individual who responds to others' struggles with,

"You think your situation is tough?

Allow me to share my own story..."

Reflecting on the situation, I realize that I could have approached it with greater kindness, opting to speak less and listen more attentively to him.

In hindsight, the clarity of the circumstances is striking, revealing patterns and potential outcomes that were not apparent at the time.

While it is now simpler to analyze the events that transpired, I do not attribute blame to myself for the subsequent developments, particularly Mr. Death's unexpected resignation and his decision to purchase a condominium in South Beach. I do not perceive myself as accountable for the consequences that arose from his resignation.

How could I have anticipated that the Hell/Heaven Joint Consortium lacked a contingency plan, especially considering that Mister Death's contract still had 800 years remaining? It was beyond my foresight that board members, increasingly anxious about their investment principles due to the sudden decline in recruitment figures, would resort to initiating several significant conflicts to bolster overall recruitment numbers. Furthermore, I cannot be held responsible for the complications that emerged from the influx of unvetted recruits overwhelming the Hell Inc. Transit Facility Processing Center.

Please, do not hold me liable for these events!
Numerous individuals have inquired whether I harbor any concerns regarding potential repercussions or retaliatory actions directed at me, particularly in light of my critical revelations

In response to these inquiries, I typically respond with a smile and reference the various restraining orders that legally prohibit me from approaching any Heaven or Hell recruitment facilities within a 500-yard radius.

However, upon meticulous examination of these legal documents, I have noted that they do not explicitly mention contractors or subcontractors associated with the Hell/Haven Joint Consortium, such as Mister Death.
Consequently, I find myself in compliance with the court orders issued by The Southern District of Ward 5, as my activities do not infringe upon the stipulations outlined therein.
